Richmond Pilot Willing to Take Players but Griff Says - "Nothing Doing Yet."

BOTH MEN LOOK GOOD

By WILLIAM PEET.

Charlottesville, Va., March 16 .- "Lefty" Humphrey and Outfielder Horace Milan can play ball for the Richmond club of the International League if Joe Cantillon does not want them in Minneapolis. But-Griff must be agreeable to the change and up to date the Old Fox is rather sweet on both of these young Billy Smith, the Richmond manager, who is a personal friend of Griff's, came here this morning to talk business. He wants an outfielder and a pitcher and would like to relieve Griff of Humphrey and Horace Milan. "Nothg doing in that line. I haven't thus ing doing in that line. I haven't thus far seen enough of Humphrey's work, while Horace Milan right now looks al-most as good to me as his filustrious brother. I don't know whether I have, any players Smith will want when I get ready to cut down. I am certainly not going to turn over any right now," said the Old Fox. "Besides, Minneapolis has first choice on my surplus material."

was so cold this morning that Griff decided to cut out the early practice entirely and ordered his men to report to the field at noon without the formality of eating lunch. These half-starved, half-frozen young men tossed the ball about for three-quarters of an hour, when a six-inning ball game was started, the regulars getting bumped hard and often, losing to the Yannigans, 7 to 0, and offering no excuses, but swearing revenge the next time the clubs meet.

While the weather report insinuates that it will be milder tomorrow, the Blue-ridge Mountains hereabouts are capped with snow, and just so long as the snow ingers the wind is going to sweep down with unabated fury and chill every ball player to the marrow.

It is Griff's intentions to stage an interteam game tomorrow morning and tackle the University of Virginia in the after-noon. Much, however, depends upon the weather, and it is just possible that the same program staged today will again be followed.

Lambeth Field this afternoon was so cold a spot that even the University of Virginia team, composed of youngsters who are supposed to withstand every brand of weather, deemed it inadvisable

Charlie Jamieson, the outfielder pur-chased from Buffalo, has just started to chased from Buffalo, has just started to show something. Jamleson today cracked out two safe hits and stole a base, besides handling perfectly every chance. The outfield problem is growing more complex every day. Rondeau already tooks as if he was a fixture, while Shanks is hitting the ball hard, and so is Horace Millian with Jamleson complex fast Griff-Mian, with Jamieson coming fast, Grifth tonight stated that he was very much the a man up a tree so far as his out-like a man up a tree so far as his out-field is concerned. "They all look so good that it will take me some time to decide with the colts is scheduled for this afterthe combination I shall use to start noon take good care of himself, otherwise he would be a good ball player," stated Smith. "I'm going to try him out, and it's up to him. Players who do not take enough interest in their work to keep themselves in condition to play are not wanted on the club I manage."

Jack Bentlev has shown a lot of stuff own here this spring, and with the experience he has gained should prove a valuable man for the Nationals during the coming campaign. Bentley gave the regulars but two hits in three innings

Parks, the semi-pro from Atlanta, is an-ther youngster who is attracting attencausing much favorable comment by the veterans. Parks stands up to the plate nicely and meets the ball squarely. He is also a corking fielder and looks to be fast on his feet.

WANTS TO ACQUIRE SPEED

By FRANK MORAN.

New York, March 18.—A young fellow going to college quite often permits his mind to wander from his studies. Similarly I permit my mind to wander from that which to me now is as iportant as the advantages of a college education are to a young fellow.

I tried to concentrate my ambition to win the heavy-weight title this morning during my five-mile run with Willie Lewis, my trainer, and failed. The in-vigorating effects of the early morning air wouldn't permit me.

My mind turned to things other than the big match. Lewis, I imagine, devoted his energy to keeping up with me, and had very little to say. I thought of the thousands of fellows in the boxing game, all struggling for the goal which only one can attain, and which I have within my reach. within my reach.

I thought of the fellows who box only en enough to keep from starving and ought of those who would eat regularif they were engaged more often-the fellows who go through more hardships than a fellow in any other profession could endure to realize in a dream. And yet there are those who say that boxing isn't the sport it should be. Say, a stiff blow to the point of the jaw does more character building than a thousand bankruptcy cases or business reverses. And the training a boxer does has more effect upon him than the stiffest exam has on a college student.

Charlottesville, Va., March 16.—Zero weather and a biting wind from the snow-capped Blueridge Mountains did not halt the Nationals in their daily practice here today, for Griffith had the boys out at noon and staged a six-inning ball game, the Yannigans blanking the regulars, 7 to 0, outhitting and outfield-mercifully hammered. Three hits in the opening chaper brought in as many runs, while four healthy wallops in the fifth inning added a quartet of tallies.

The regulars faced Humphreys and Bentley, southpaws, and could do little against them. Perfect fielding by Altrock's crowd at critical stages precluded runs. Jamieson and Moeller, for the Yannigans, carried off the batting honors. Clyde Milan, with a single and double, led the regulars. double, led the regulars.

While it was much too cold for good baseball, the Yannigans were full of pep-per and fight. Carl Sawyer, on the coaching lines, was the life of the whole party. Griff shook up his Yannigans a bit, playing Parks on second base and Sawyer at short, benching Leonard Schwab. Parks drove in a run in the first inning and scored in the fifth. The Yannigans jumped on Sloan in the opener, singles by Moeller and Shanks, a walk to H. Milan, and Parks' double sent over three runs.

In the fifth, with George Dumont pitching against them.

COACH IS NOT NAMED

With the signing of the contract for football game on next Thanksgiving Day between the gridiron teams of Georgetown University and George Washington University, Student Manager Donall Harison McKnew announces his schedule of seven games.

Owing to the necessity of completing the organization of the squad, the first game has been booked a little late, being scheduled with the Gettysburg College ed in turning back the Baltimore "fair team at Gettysburg on the 14th of October. Western Maryland will be played Grand Central Palace alleys, in the Hopkins will be met at Homewood Field final three games of the six-game in Baltimore on the last Saturday of the month.

The four games which are scheduled during the month of November will all be played in this city. On November 4 the crack Ursinus College eleven will be played, and a week later the Eastern Col-"Buff and Blue's" opponents. The Hamp-ton-Sidney eleven will battle the locals on the 19th, while an open date is on the schedule for the following Saturday. Manager McKnew is not overanxious to fill this date, as two weeks after the Hampton-Sidney game the G. W. U. grid-ironers clash with their encient rival

AMATEUR SWIMMERS MUST BE REGISTERED

CARROLL TO PLAY COLLEGIANS.

Baltimore, Md., March 16.—Any amsteur swimmer in this section who is desirous of participating in the South Tonight.

The Carroll Institute basket-ball quint is scheduled to play its last game of the season tonight in the Carroll gymnasium, when they meet the All-Star Collegians composed of players from the local college fives. Although the Carroll team had met setbacks this season, they have yet to be defeated with the full teams strength on the floor and tonight when the five is at its height it is expected that they will more than give the college players their medicine.
